

WELCOME BACK!

On Friday, November 4th, the LLD opened to the public at 9:30 AM. I had the pleasure to escort the first patron of the day through the doors. Mardelle was so happy to be back inside her library!

And the LLD is happy to be open once again! Half of the building has been arranged to provide the maximum amount of materials and resources while the other half of the building is undergoing construction in Phase Two.

Ask staff for a tour!
Welcome back!

- Tatiana Weinstein, LLD Director

What to expect when you visit:

USER EXPERIENCE

- Entrance and parking on Front Street
- Additional parking via Kingston Avenue parking lot entrance
- Circulation staff available in the lobby
- Family-sized restrooms off of lobby and on public floor
- Book drop back in its original location (Front St. parking lot)
- Automated indoor book return
- New self-pick-up area for holds
- Youth, Adult, and Teen materials temporarily sharing the same room
- Limited number of public computers
- Adult and Youth staff sharing service desk
- Jack & Jill (the turtles) have moved and are loving their new space!

CONSTRUCTION MENTIONS

- Expect, at times, some loud noises ;)
- Outdoor work continues on canopy entrances
- There are some unfinished areas on the public floor - awaiting delivery of supplies
- Some areas on public floor have temporary doors/walls
- East interior undergoing demolition
- Fencing surrounds eventual south entrance, east program/reading area, and north drive-up service window
- More landscaping will occur once the winter months pass
